

Fair Credit Reporting Act Disclosure & Authorization Disclosure

As an applicant for employment or a current employee of Alexander Capital, L.P., you are a consumer with rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act. When any of the following circumstances exist, Alexander Capital, L.P. may choose to obtain and use information contained in either a consumer report or an investigative consumer report from a consumer reporting agency about you when: 1) considering your application for employment, 2) making a decision whether to offer you employment, 3) deciding whether to continue your employment (if you are hired), or 4) making other employment-related decisions directly affecting you.

For explanation purposes, a “consumer reporting agency” is a person or business which, for monetary fees, dues, or on a cooperative non-profit basis, regularly assembles or evaluates consumer credit information or other information on consumers for the purpose of furnishing consumer reports to others, such as Alexander Capital, L.P.

A “consumer report” means any written, oral, or other communication of any information by a consumer reporting agency bearing on your credit worthiness, credit standing, credit capacity, character, general reputation, personal characteristics, or mode of living, which is used or expected to be used or collected in whole or in part for the purpose of serving as a factor in establishing your eligibility for employment purposes.

An “investigative consumer report” means a consumer report or portion thereof in which information on your character, general reputation, personal characteristics, or mode of living is obtained through personal interviews with your neighbors, friends, or associates reported on or with others with whom you are acquainted or who may have knowledge concerning any such items of information.

In the event an investigative consumer report is prepared, you may request additional disclosures regarding the nature and scope of the investigation requested, as well as a written summary of your rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

I understand that I have rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act, including the rights discussed above.
